Weeds among the Wheat

Jesus uses ordinary events in people's lives to communicate a profound message of the Kingdom to his listeners. Hence today Gospel reading is one such example: his listeners were so familiar with farming so he used their farming knowledge to tell them about the Kingdom of God. Most of us without recognizing it in our daily lives we categorize people into two groups. The wheat, good people who seem to be doing the right things, being kind and generous in their behaviour towards their fellow human beings. The weeds, (bad people) those we consider as bad human beings who are doing the opposite of good. It is irony that the father (God) of the garden has planted the wheat in the fields. But then someone else comes in and sows the weeds in and amongst the wheat.

The farmer did not weed the weeds out for fear of pulling the wheat out as well. God gives us chances to change our ways and come to our senses and return to Him. He gives us all the time in the world we need, to do good, go to confession and to do penance so that we can be put at right with God again. God never abandoned us when we stray far and wide from him, he gives us means and ways of realizing our faults and repent and take the first step of returning back to Him. But at times we wander too far and can't find our way back, God waits patiently for us and never turns His back on us. He sends ordinary people whom we have known too well in our lives, the likes of your wife, husband, children, relatives or even your neighbors to accompany us back to God. Do we see that as God coming to us in the ordinary people or are we still waiting for the miracles to happen, where some supernatural thing (beings) come to change our lives?

Our families and neighbors are the supernatural human beings that God sent to us, so that we can be able to see the face of God in them and change gradually. Remember God still gives us time to repent and the time is now, not tomorrow, because tomorrow never comes.

Dear Fathers and Lay Pastoral Leaders

When we went to Alert Level 1 on 8th June some restrictions for Masses were kept in place to help vulnerable people feel it was safe to come back to mass. These restrictions were the removal of holy Water from fonts, no communion on the tongue or from the chalice, and asking people not to shake hands at the Sign of Peace. I indicated then that I would review these restrictions in one month's time.

I consulted with the Council of Priests at their meeting last week about what they thought was appropriate based on what is happening in their parishes. Several said that there were elderly people who were not coming to mass for safety reasons and that most people appreciated the cautionary approach which has been taken.

I have decided to keep the restrictions on Holy Water in fonts and communion from the chalice in place. People should not feel obliged to shake hands at the Sign of Peace but should acknowledge one another in ways they feel comfortable with.

I would like you to talk with your parishioners who want to receive communion on the tongue, and if they are prepared to come to the end of the line for communion, they can receive it on the tongue. You may want to remind them that they need to extend their tongue well and stay still as the host is placed on the tongue.

When Priests are concelebrating Mass, such as for funerals, the priests should receive the Precious Blood by intinction.

I suggest that you ask your Eucharistic Ministers if they are willing to continue their ministry with this easing of the restrictions, as some who are potentially vulnerable due to their age or their health status may not feel safe continuing.

We still need to be conscious of hygiene measures such as washing, using hand sanitiser when distributing Communion, and keeping our churches and other premises clean. Please remind people once again that if they are unwell they should not come to mass or other parish activities.

Thank you for everything that you and your parishioners have done during the various Alert Levels. Let us enjoy the opportunities to gather which Alert Level 1 has given us and pray that the country does not have to return to the restrictions of the last few months.

With good wishes and every blessings

Yours sincerely in the Lord

+John A Dew

Issue No. 225

Kia tau te rangimarie ki a koutou,

If we want to know how the Church should be today, the simplest thing to do would be to read and pray with the Acts of the Apostles. It tells the story of the early Church and tells us what it means to live and act as disciples of Christ. The early Christians were filled with hope and joy. To see this we only have to read that wonderful passage from Acts 2: 42-47.

" They remained faithful to the teaching of the apostles, to the brotherhood (fellowship), to the breaking of bread and to the prayers. And everyone was filled with awe; the apostles worked many signs and miracles. And all who shared the faith owned everything in common; they sold their goods and possessions and distributed the proceeds among themselves according to what each one needed. Each day, with one heart, they regularly went to the Temple but met in their houses for the breaking of bread; they shared their food gladly and generously; they praised God and were looked up to by everyone. Day by day the Lord added to their community those destined to be saved." (New Jerusalem Bible)

When we read that passage, reflect on it and pray with it, we can easily see that those few lines were written about a community which lived the heart of the Gospel. They shared the Eucharist and they prayed together, they were focused on one another and on the needs of the community. Those words of Scripture are a great example of what our parish communities are called to be today. This is also the image of the Church which the Second Vatican Council set before us. The Popes who led the Council and all those involved – now over 50 years ago - cooperated with the Holy Spirit in renewing and updating the Church and looking for ways to give direction and growth to the Church. In convening the Council, Pope Saint John XXIII showed an incredible openness to the Holy Spirit.

The account from the Acts of the Apostles gives us a helpful examination to use in our parishes today. Are we open to the Holy Spirit and where the Spirit wants to lead us, or is it just what we want? When we share the Eucharist, are we aware of the words of Pope Benedict "Unless this Eucharist passes over into concrete acts of love it is intrinsically fragmented." (Deus Caritas Est 14) Is prayer between me and God, or is it a genuine experience of meeting God together?

If we tried, with the help of the Holy Spirit, to imitate the early Christian community, maybe the result would be the same for us as it was for them... "they were looked up to by everyone. Day by day the Lord added to their community..."

Don't stop at reading these few verses from Acts, read the whole story and be inspired by our ancestors in faith. It is our story too!

With every blessing

Naku noa

+John

We do not know what God wants to do with us, but let us abandon ourselves unreservedly to Him; let our hearts be ready for everything.

Venerable Suzanne Aubert
